

Voicemail to Email is now available to Fixed Business Customers (excluding those in the Shawano Market).

The Voicemail to Email feature can make you and your team more responsive, flexible, and available to your customers. This feature sends a notification to your email inbox. You will receive voicemail attachments and will be able to have voicemails deposited into two email addresses.

When you receive a voicemail, you will receive a .wav file attachment. The email will also include:

- Phone number that left the voicemail
- Date and time the voicemail was left
- Length of the voice message

Voicemail to Email Benefits

- Receive and manage all voicemail in one preferred inbox.
- Receive instant notification of newly deposited voice messages at one preferred destination, eliminating the need to regularly access your voicemail inbox.
